Army and Navy Co-operating in Despatch of Troops—Transports Will Not Move Until Convoy is Ready.

(Copyright 1898 by the Associated Press.)

On board the Associated Press dispatch boat Wanda, off Santiago de Cuba, Thursday, June 9, p. m., via Kingston, June 10, 11:20 A. M. It is believed that the navy will follow the landing of troops by forcing the passage of the narrow channel leading to the harbor of Santiago de Cuba, lashing up the sunken mines and compelling Admiral Cervera to make a stand. The destruction of the Spanish fleet is successfully carried out, it will end the last vestige of Spain's dominion in eastern Cuba.

The harbor of Guantanamo is completely under the control of the American fleet, and the landing of marines at that point is expected to occur simultaneously with the landing of troops at Santiago de Cuba.

Without doubt a very great advance in the right flank. He seems to be slow settling after short hits. Gleason, by good up inside, cut off a number of hits in recent games while Wilmot would hardly have got in time. He did good hitting and very lively on the bases but seems to be unmistakably slow in the field.

Army and Navy Co-operating in Despatch of Troops—Transports Will Not Move Until Convoy is Ready.

What inspired June 10. Out of the maze of doubt and contradictions to the dispatch of the first army of invasion to Cuba, one thing stands out clearly, namely that the government, feeling strong in its present position and plan, is now cautiously and with the deliberation of one not in a hurry, but secure of success proceeding with dispatch.

With this main purpose in view, the army and navy are co-operating toward the despatch of the troops, some 25,000 in number, under a strong escort of naval convoys, made up of sixteen warships headed by the battleship Indiana.

Since then, however, reports have come as to the escape of Spanish ships in the North Atlantic.

Realizing that nothing was to be gained by haste, and that the war was progressing speedily toward success, it was determined not to take the one small chance of having our troop transports, loaded by a scouting ship of the enemy.

As a result, the troop transports have not proceeded to Cuba, neither yesterday or the day before, as has been repeatedly asserted.

They are now in readiness to go, but will not move until the naval convoy is ready to accompany them, assuring the safe conduct from Florida to the point of destination.

What is that will be today or tomorrow the war department positively declines to say, and there is authority for the statement that any report to that effect is not only unwarranted, but accompanied with the most vigorous official condemnation.

The administration feels that it is of the utmost importance that the precise movements of this invading fleet should not be published and track be heralded to the enemy.

The completeness with which the transport of troops has been planned is shown in the official list of transport vessels given out at the war department today.

Of these 34 large steamships varying from 5,000 tons down to 600 tons are at Florida ports ready to carry our troops to the point of invasion.

There are some 16 other craft, including vessels suitable for conveying fresh water, stores, etc., and for lightering the troops and stores from the ships to the beach when the debarkation begins.

The entire transport fleet of about 50 steamships, augmented by the fleet of naval convoys, is about in number, will make a formidable marine procession, exceeding in magnitude the memorable spectacle of the naval review during the World's fair year.

Plucky Work of American Officers in Communicating With Insurgents and Landing Supplies.

(Copyright 1898 by Associated Press.)

On board the Associated Press dispatch boat Wanda, off Santiago de Cuba, Thursday afternoon, June 9, via Kingston, Jamaica, June 10, 12:30 P. M.

Santiago de Cuba there are now about 20,000 Spanish soldiers chiefly infantry, but with a fair contingent of cavalry and field artillery drawn from the surrounding country. During the daytime the cavalry skirmish in the vicinity of the city, returning at night to the trenches. During the last few days the activity of the Spaniards has been particularly noticeable. Oxen, trains have been making their way to the batteries; detachments have been worked on emplacements, and there have been other signs showing that the Spaniards are preparing a desperate resistance.

Some guns from Admiral Cervera's fleet may be removed to the forts. The insurgents, about 5000 strong, have taken a position on a mountain to the westward. Two thousand insurgents, of this gathering are unarmed. Gen. Maximo Gomez, now about 150 miles inland, is making this way toward the coast. Admiral Sampson is actively cooperating with the insurgents. Yesterday Capt. Mc Calla of the insurgent forces, with his staff, went on board the New York for a long consultation. The naval officers have been doing splendid and daring work in carrying communications to the insurgents, landing arms and making trips ashore for the purpose of gaining information. Upon the gunboats Suwanee and Vixen this work has chiefly devolved.

LANDING SUPPLIES.

Lieut. Sharp of the Vixen, and Lieut. Comdr. Delehanty, of the Suwanee, have been daily entrusted with important missions and have carried them out successfully. The Vixen's work has been confined to carrying the wagons to and from the insurgent camp, but the Suwanee has been employed in a more serious task. This plucky gunboat has landed 1800,000 rounds of small arm ammunition, 300 Springfield rifles, 100 carbines, 2000 machetes with equipments and provisions. These were landed over yesterday (Wednesday) about 17 miles west of Santiago, some 800 insurgents who came down to the beach, the main body remaining in the mountains.

The debarkation of supplies was tedious but uninterrupted. The insurgents reported that regular engagements between their forces and the Spanish cavalry were of daily occurrence. The Cubans were hard up for supplies and ammunition, and were fairly overjoyed at the sight of the Suwanee's cargo. Some almost ravenous, hacked at the sides of bacon and ate raw beef. They had been living on limes, cocoanuts and sweet potatoes. Ensign Gilpin of the Suwanee went ashore and accompanied the Cubans to their temporary camp inland, where he found them on a dozen wounded men badly in need of surgical attendance. Hammocks for them were sent from the Suwanee. The casualties were the result of a brush on the previous night with Spanish cavalry.

To the correspondent of the Associated Press on the dispatch boat Wanda Ensign Gilpin, describing his experience at the camp, which is about ten miles inland, said:

"I found the insurgents a rough looking and mixed lot of boys, and old men, ragged out any way, carrying arms of all sorts, and all anxious to borrow everything I had, from my blouse to my revolver. Four Spanish soldiers in uniform carrying rifles, marched into the camp while I was there and said they wanted to join the insurgents. They were enrolled, but a close watch was kept on them, as they belonged to the civil guard. A Cuban officer told me such additions were not infrequent. The Spaniards had Mauser rifles, which were in fairly good condition.

"Conservative authorities believe that the United States troops will have to carry on their plan of campaign without placing much reliance upon the insurgents. Several plucky young officers, like Ensign Gilpin, have made trips ashore and taken observations of the interior, harbor and the fortifications, locating the exact position of Admiral Cervera's fortifications. It is hardly likely, however, that the Spanish admiral, keeping them under cover, will be placed both day and night. More than once the officers engaged in this shore duty have had narrow escapes from falling in with the enemy's cavalry.

Cruiser Marblehead Holds The Lower Bay—Landing of Troops Quite Certain—Secretary Long's Daughter to Do Nurse Duty.

Washington, June 10. The first confirmation of the engagement at Guantanamo bay Tuesday came to the navy department today and was made the subject of a bulletin.

The terms in which Admiral Sampson described the affair tended strongly to take away the large importance given it in the original despatches.

There was a notable failure on the part of the admiral to mention anything like of landing, although the statement that the Marblehead now holds the lower bay by implication may carry with it the idea that her marines are ashore.

Elderly naval officers who have been in Guantanamo bay describe it as admirably suited to the reception of transports, with plenty of water for the largest of the transports and enough for the smaller class of warships that might be used to convoy them.

The ability is one that would make a good base of operations against Hayti, should it be decided to attack the latter town by troops from the rear instead of by the warships.

The statement from San Francisco that the real object of the Charleston's voyage was the seizure of the Spanish Ladrone islands has small basis of truth for it.

When it was decided to send the monitors Monterey and Monadnock from Mare Island to Manila, it was known that this could not be done without sending long colliers because of the insufficient coal supply.

It was not deemed practicable to tow the monitors across the Pacific where they could not coal at their bunkers.

There are several groups of islands lying between Hawaii and the Philippines which might afford a harbor in which the colliers could lay alongside the monitors and fill up their coal bunkers.

The officials do not deem it prudent to name the particular islands chosen for the purpose, but it is obvious that being barred by neutrality laws from the ports of neutral countries the first resource of the navy department would be the Spanish islands such as the Ladrones or the Carolines.

Therefore it is assumed that if the Charleston really goes to one of the former islands it will be with the purpose of securing in advance a suitable harbor for the use of the monitors.

A very substantial evidence of self-sacrifice for the sake of country by the taking up of a military nurse's duties, by the daughter of Secretary Long, Miss Margaret Long, with some of her chums at the Johns Hopkins medical school of Baltimore.

The young ladies who go with Miss Long are Dorothy Reid, Mabel Austin, daughter of Ex-Gov. Austin of Minnesota, and Mabel Simis.

They have already reported to the naval hospital at Brooklyn to nurse the wounded and sick sailors who were sent up from Simpson's fleet on the Solace.

SENATE IN DETAIL.

Washington, June 10. Shortly after 5 o'clock this afternoon the conference report on the war revenue bill was agreed to by the Senate after a discussion lasting four hours. The debate upon the measure was without special incident and was entirely devoid of partisan features. It was a foregone conclusion that the report would be agreed to and the only question of interest involved was how soon a vote could be reached.

The debate indicated generally that the bill as agreed upon by the conferees was satisfactory to everybody, except as to the bond provision. The votes cast against the adoption of the report reflected the opinions of those Senators who are opposed to any increase in the interest bearing debt of the country.

The report was agreed to by the vote of 43 to 22. Every Republican voted for the measure and eight votes were supplemented by those of eight Democrats, one silver Republican and one Independent. The Democrats who voted for the adoption of the report were Messrs. Caffery, Gorman, Lindsay, Mitchell, Morgan, Murphy and Turpie. The silver Republican was Mr. Mantle and the Independent was Mr. Kyle. The vote against the report was cast by eleven Democrats, three Silver Republicans and three Populists.

As soon as the engrossed bill came to be signed by the presiding officers of the two branches of Congress it will be sent to the President.

Just at the close of the session this afternoon a bitter personal discussion was precipitated by Mr. Butler (Pop., N. C.), who attacked Mr. Kyle for having voted for the issuance of bonds. Mr. Butler, as the chairman of the Populist national committee, officially declared that Mr. Kyle did not represent the Pops at all.

Mr. Kyle replied warmly saying that he was responsible for his political utterances not to Mr. Butler, but to his conscience and to his constituents. Subsequently he denounced as "intentional and malicious falsehood" some statements made about him by Mr. Pettigrew.

SENATE IN DETAIL.

The first section of the bill provided that bonds and individual bidders for bonds should first have their bids accepted by the secretary. He was certain the secretary would give the people under this and opportunity to bid for the bonds and the believed subscriptions for them would come from the people of every hamlet of the United States.

Mr. Teller called attention to the change made by the conference in regard to the sale of bonds authorized at not less than par.

Mr. Aldrich replied that this change was made to remove an appearance of inconsistency and that under the change adopted there was no possibility of a sale of any bonds for less than par.

Mr. Allison also gave the same opinion.

Mr. Collamer also asked why the certificates of indebtedness were not made a popular loan, to which Mr. Aldrich replied that the chance was made because of the fact that they were intended to meet emergency demands, which would not manifestly be met if they were offered for subscription to popular subscription.

Mr. Allen said that while he was not prepared to congratulate the country upon the agreement on bonds he had been agreeably surprised that the sum had not been $500,000,000. He would not vote for the bill now under the call, until it was proved that the war could not be conducted, without an increased debt, at lower interest bearing debt.

Mr. Gorman (Md.) announced his intention to support the conference report on his vote, because he thought the Senate conferees had secured the greatest possible concessions from the House and because immediate action was demanded.

CANNON CRITICISES.

Mr. Cannon criticised the conference report, and said there was danger that in freeing the Cubans our own people would be enslaved. He saw, in the progress of the war a project of imperialism calculated to arouse the civilized world.

Mr. Pettigrew (S. D.) pointed out that the taxes, he said, fall largely upon the poor of the country, who, if they had the declared been protected by the bill, would be exempted.

Mr. Stewart spoke in opposition to the issuance of bonds. He made reference to Hawaiian annexation and spoke in favor of it.

At the conclusion of Mr. Stewart's speech the yeas and nays were ordered on the report and it was agreed to by a vote of 43 to 22, the detailed vote being as follows:

Yeas—Aldrich, Allison, Beach, Burrows, Burton, Cannon, Carter, Chandler, Clark, Cullom, Davis, Deboe, Elkins, Fairbanks, Foraker, Frye, Gallinger, Hanna, Hawley, Kyle, Lodge, McBride, McMillan, Mantle, Mason, Nelson, Penrose, Perkins, Platt, Pritchard, Proctor, Quay, Sewell, Shoup, Spooner, Thurston, Wetmore, Wolcott—43.

THE DISBURSEMENT OF PENSION LAWS.

The Whig has received the following circular letter from the department of the interior at Washington, of interest to all pensioners and others:

Recent investigation has developed the fact that indifferent and perfunctory procedure now exists to a most serious extent in the prosecution of claims for pensions, so far as it relates to the payment of pensions, and special attention is hereby called to certain existing abuses.

While it is believed that many officials who assist in the execution of pension vouchers have no conception of their criminal liability in the premises, it is equally certain that many others to secure new advantages in the numerical numbers of their claims, knowingly and willfully resort to violations of the law.

To the end that the former class may profit by this notice, this circular is issued.

The penalties for falsification in the preparation of the declaration, false affidavits of the claimant and false witnesses, have become a factor in the administration and acknowledgment of pension vouchers.

It is the intention of this bureau where the facts warrant such action, to institute criminal proceedings against the parties who indulge in these illegal and irregular practices, and they are warned accordingly.

By following strictly the instructions printed on each voucher the matters complained of may be entirely remedied.

Very respectfully,

H. Clay Evans,
Commissioner.

OTHER BUSINESS DISCUSSED.

Mr. Chandler then discussed the disposition of the time of Congress, in relation to the consideration of the bank concession of the Metropolitan Episcopal church, south.

He believed that was just. The attitude of the Senators from the territories, who had supported the measure, was appreciated by the people of the country. He was certain, too, that they would disapprove of the action of the man who had misled the Senate into delaying action on the bill. Some people would be quite prone to oppose a measure because of the opposition of the Methodist church, and the action of the Senate should be exposed. He (Chandler) then read from the Congressional Record the speech of Mr. Gallinger, in which he had referred to the attention of the church authorities, the Methodist republican editor. He demanded to be investigated as to the correctness of the statement that he had been influenced by any such motive. He was under the impression that the Methodist bell-cow with the bell on it in England, to which Gallinger referred in a previous speech, was the editor of the Senate organ in this city. Bedding this, he knowing the republican would raise and go to the country, involving a prominent issue, the opposition treated for liberal debate and then the vote was granted readily.

Pending to conclude, volunteers, senders to vote if Congress should so declare, was passed and a number of minor provisions, chiefly of a private nature, were considered.

Eight Democrats voted with the Administration in the movement today to force consideration of the resolutions, they being Messrs. Berry, Cockrell, DeVries, Gallinger, Gorman, Hunton, Mills and Vest.

Washington, June 10. The feature of to-day's session of the House was the senate joint resolution to consider and vote upon the Newlands resolution to annex Hawaii, Beginning tomorrow the debate will proceed until 5 o'clock next Wednesday afternoon, when a vote will be taken. The measure debate came today attended to force consideration, and for three hours the opposition filibustered. Consideration of the resolutions today could have been prevented as under the rules a recess until the evening session would have been taken, following which there would have been a call of the House, their victory from now. Realizing this and knowing the republicans would raise and go to the country involving a prominent issue, the opposition treated for liberal debate and then the vote was granted readily.

The residence of North S. Weiss in Brunkfort, formerly the Forster Trust house, was burned to the ground Friday morning about 11 o'clock. Two horses were also burned. Most of the furniture was saved.

On Friday two more locomotives for the Washington County Railroad passed through Bangor. They were numbered 11 and 12, and were from the Brooks works. Six engines have passed through the city within a few weeks for this line.

A swarm of bees has taken possession of one of the trees on Hon. Joseph F. Snow's lawn on State street where the owner can have them. No charge for storage.

At the boys' meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon at 4 Rev. H. E. Fox is to speak. Miss Fauntain and Orrin Hill will be the soloists. These Sunday afternoon meetings are very interesting and this one should be well attended.

H. O. Reynolds, an employe at Morse's mills, while running a groover near the top Friday had two of his fingers taken off by getting them caught in the machinery. He was attended by a physician.

Mr. Gwilym Miles, the eminent baritone who has created a furore wherever he has been heard, and who delighted the thousands in the Auditorium on Friday afternoon and evening with his magnificent voice, will be heard at the 9 o'clock service at St. John's Episcopal church on Sunday afternoon. There will doubtless be a very large attendance with such an attraction, in addition to the others offered at the service. Mr. Miles will probably render "It Is Enough," from Elijah, and "Lead, Kindly Light," and those who have heard him know what those masterpieces will be as rendered by him.

On Friday noon one of the guard wires on the Public Works Co.'s trolley line broke in front of Kenduskeag block and fell across the wire carrying the car current, and the once became live. Another car coming along struck the fallen wire and the horse became frightened and got tangled up in the wires with the result that he received such a shock as to paralyze his legs and mouth. The fire department was summoned and before long had the necessary repairs made. Travel was soon resumed for a time.

Pearl & Dennett have sold to Miller Strickland, of Burlington, the Mabel E. Haines farm at Orono, also the Kenney & McFarland house in this city to Hiram Lynch. They break ground next week on Mt. Hope avenue for a house to be occupied by John Bradbury of Mapleleaf. They are at the present time building three new houses.

THE FORT KNOX GARRISON.

The Connecticut troops arrived in the city yesterday morning from their trip to Islesboro and went to Bucksport by train, from which place they were ferried over the river to Fort Knox to establish themselves in as comfortable quarters as possible for some time—no one knows just how long. Reference is made to their arrival in our Bucksport correspondence. Their arrival here was observed by a few persons who gathered at the station.

They will join welcome again on to the fair ground at Bucksport and the town's people will show them what Maine's hospitality is without doubt.

The command is made up of four companies of the First, A, D and H. The remaining companies are stationed in Fort Preble, Peak's Island and Fort Constitution, and headquarters remains with this detachment.

Maj. John Hickey, Maj. Edward Sawtelle.

Regimental adjutant, Capt. John N. Wainwright.

Adjutants, Lieuts. Patrick J. Cosgrove and Jos. M. Robinson.

Commissary, Lieut. Bronson.

Chaplain Rev. H. H. Kelsey.

The captains of the four companies are: Thomas C. Bailey, Co. A; Sandy M. Leonard, Co. D; William E. Mahoney, Co. H, and Joel Nichols, Co. G. The regiment is made up mostly of Hartford men and is known as "the Dutch regiment" of its State guard. The regimental band is with the command.

SUNDAY OBSERVANCE.

The Orono W. C. T. U. at a meeting on Thursday of this week passed a resolution regarding Sabbath desecration in Riverside Park, but the B. I. & W. St. Ry. Co. have since changed their plans, putting the band concerts on Sunday. The resolution follows:

We regret that disregard of the Sabbath as a day of rest and of religious privilege seems to be increasing among some thoughtless classes, and we especially regret that the proprietors of Riverside Park have chosen Sunday to open an inaugurate a popular resort, thus making the day of rest and the place which might be a means of refreshment and health to some who need it, into an occasion of labor to many who are thereby deprived of rest and opportunity of worship; and we invite all the churches and all the friends of labor, to earnestly consider the subject in the light of Christian principle and neighborly justice, and to so act that the future may see the community taking higher ground each year instead of lower, in regard to Sabbath observance.

If you suffer from sores, boils, pimples, or if you are weak and run down, you should take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

MAINE SYMPHONY CONCERTS

Charming Music at the Auditorium Friday Afternoon and Evening.

Patriotic Demonstration With National Airs of the Leading Countries.

It was Bangor's turn to have a visit from the Maine symphony orchestra and accompanying soloist on Friday, in the last of the series of five, and right well did the people of the Queen City, and vicinity show their appreciation of the choice musical opportunity.

The concert was in the nature of an ovation everywhere, for all who in any way contributed to the programme. That Bangor did her share is shown by the attendance of 700 in the afternoon, and probably 2,000 in the evening.

Both concerts were artistic successes and marked another milestone of musical progress and pleasure and demonstrated excellent results from the work which the chorus has been rehearsed during the past months. The orchestra and chorus had their parts down to a high state of perfection. Miss Shaw and Mr. Miles, the programs had happily chosen participants.

Director Chapman, asked the indulgence of the audience owing to his indisposition from appendicitis which made it necessary for him to direct seated in a chair, while Concert Master O. E. Waugh took his place in a graceful and veteran like manner, during the song accompaniments. The prelude fairy orchestra selections were also ably conducted by Dr. Wagner. Mr. Chapman, although weakened by his illness, showed his old-time skill, fire and enthusiasm and kept the players and singers right up to the mark.

The Auditorium was patriotic in its beautiful decorations of the stage and stage pens and bunting and the stage was a very fine appearance with the light greens of the ladies contrasted with the black of the men. The two events were called "war concerts" and the patriotic flavor, for which Mrs. Chapman must be given great credit, was handsomely carried into effect. The programs follow:

Versperbell, "Die Meistersinger" ..... Wagner
Solo, "The Grenadiers" .....
Mr. Gwilym Miles.
Fifth Symphony ..... Beethoven
Two movements—(Allegro, Andante.)
Danse Macabre ..... Saint-Saens
Harp Solo, "Patrol" ..... Hasselmans
Miss Harriet A. Shaw.
Grand March ..... Hall
War Songs by the Festival Chorus.
1. America.
2. American Hymn.
3. Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean.
4. English National Hymn.
5. St. Patrick's Day.
6. "The Campbells Are Coming," Marsellaise.
7. The Watch on the Rhine.
8. Russian National Hymn.
10. Tenting Tonight.
(Baritone Solo by Mr. Miles.)
11. Star Spangled Banner.
12. Battle Hymn of the Republic.
13. Anvil Chorus.

EVENING CONCERT.

Versperbell, "Die Meistersinger" ..... Wagner
Reminiscences from "Trovatore" ..... Verdi
Mr. Gwilym Miles.
Two movements—(Allegro, Andante.)
Grand March, "Queen of Sheba" ..... Goldmark
Harp Solo, "Etude de Concert" ..... G. defretd
Miss Harriet A. Shaw.
Danse Macabre ..... Saint-Saens
War Songs by the Festival Chorus.
1. America.
2. American Hymn.
3. Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean.
4. National English Hymn.
5. St. Patrick's Day.
6. The Campbells are Coming.
7. The Marseillaise.
(Solo, Mr. Miles.)
8. The Watch on the Rhine.
9. Russian National Hymn.
10. Tenting Tonight.
(Baritone solo by Mr. Miles.)
11. Star Spangled Banner.
12. Battle Hymn of the Republic.
13. Anvil Chorus.

The orchestra play with remarkable close unity, harmony and feeling, and from the brilliancy of the Wagner music, the delicacy of the symphony to the weirdness of the "Danse Macabre," gave a most musical rendition. In the afternoon a stirring march by Mr. R. B. Hill, of the orchestra, was given with fine effect.

Miss Shaw is a great favorite in Bangor, she has sung no other such as she always expected, for the talented artist. She was heard with great pleasure and the hearty encores showed a true appreciation upon the part of the audiences. She received some beautiful flowers.

Mr. Miles again sang gratefully. His rich and powerful baritone voice fills the big auditorium with melody, and he is a favorite here, who gave him very warm welcome. Mr. Miles can always be sure of a most hospitable welcome in Bangor.

The war songs were a feature of great prominence and of a high quality. They were splendidly sung by the chorus of 300 voices, from Bangor, Orono, Old-town and Ellsworth. As each national air was sung the young lady costumed to represent the country walked from the right of the stage up the steps to the top of the tier of seats, waving the national flag. It was an inspiring scene and created great enthusiasm. During the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," small flags were waved by the members of the chorus.

The nations were represented as follows:

Columbia, Miss Mexey.
England, Miss Marion Parsons.
Ireland, Miss Madeline Hennessey.
Scotland, Miss Lilla Knowles.
Germany, Miss Louise Patten.
France, Miss Lotta Patten.
Russia, Miss Grace Buzzell.
Young America, Masses Edna Knowles and Mary Stevens.
Cuba, Miss Marie Marcou.

Mr Chapman desires through the Whig to thank the ladies and all those who contributed to the success of the concerts.

WARE—WILSON.

A Wedding in Brookline, Mass., of Interest to Bangor People.

A wedding of interest to many Bangor people was solemnized in Brookline, Mass., on Thursday afternoon. It was attended by Miss Mabel Harlow, Miss Prentiss and Mr. Henry Prentiss, of this city. The Boston Herald of Friday has the following:

One of the most brilliant weddings of the week in Brookline was that of Miss Louise Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson, and Mr. Henry Ware, both of Brookline. It was performed yesterday afternoon at the First Parish (Unitarian) church by the Rev. Howard N. Brown, of King's Chapel, Boston. Within the church there was a bank of laurel, fern and cut flowers extending clear across and nearly 6 feet in height. Around the organ facing the choir on console there was a wealth of sweet peas and rose wood with roses, and the pews were adorned with daisies tied with white satin ribbon.

To the strains of the "Lohengrin" wedding march the bride and attendants moved up the center aisle. The bride wore a charming gown of embroidered tulle over white satin. She wore a tulle veil and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Edith Crocker, Miss Alice Carpenter, Miss Mary Ware, sister of the groom, and Miss Dolite Wilson, were white muslin and carried sweet peas tied with pink satin ribbon.

The ushers were Messrs. Apthorp Cutler, John Peal, Henry Prentiss, Richard Hale, Howard Brown, Jr., Joseph Allen, Edward Perkins and Ernest Hiller.

After the ceremony there was a reception at the future home of the couple on High street.

LONDON PRESS COMMENTS.

London, June 10. The St. James Gazette this afternoon published a long editorial pointing out the hopelessness of any further Spanish resistance and suggesting that the Americans seek a settlement of the Cuban question in Spain.

The Gazette says: "In the event of an invasion, but the mere presence in the coast of a strong armament, which the Spanish navy could not drive off, would produce a triumphant moral effect, and there are numerous unfortified anchorages where the American navy could refit indefinitely.

"Of course all are anxious in Europe who would not have the question of world great dispute. But if the American people are going to be frightened by the vague intimidation called Europe they must be very timid. Let them consult the Columbian rendering that England and their Russia for the time being."

FEMININE NEWS AND NOTES OF INTEREST.

PRINCESS AND THE KODAK.

The Princess of Wales has been in the habit of taking a Kodak about with her in the Sandringham district. She is very fond of photographing scenes and the Prince of Wales is also very fond of photography. Whenever the Prince takes a holiday in the Mediterranean the Princess is sure to be a passenger, and on these occasions she generally takes a number of photographs. Many of these are passed over the public, and the Princess herself has developed and printed a very artistic photographer, taking with her little new which she uses on her expeditions, near and far. On one of these occasions the Princess took a snapshot at a goods train which was passing over the railway bridge at Worcester station. When the picture was developed she noticed that the bridge and a tender. She naturally supposed that she had not held her Kodak in the proper position and sent her photographed the bridge for the second time, while an express was passing over it. The second picture, however, when developed, showed beautiful train in the bridge. Her Royal Highness, not being able to understand, drew the attention of the Prince of Wales to it, who at once divined that her must have somehow taken a photograph of the train. Enquiries were set on foot, and it was found that the platelayers had been complaining of a strange movement when they passed under the bridge. A thorough investigation of the subject being made, it was discovered that the defect had been detected just in time to prevent it, being dangerous. It is not often that an accident leads to such an important result. "I was now to this fact, that the Wolferton bridge was repaired.

QUEEN WILHELMINA OF HOLLAND

When in 1890 William III died and Queen Emma became Queen Regent, she never for one moment let her mind wander from the one thought—the coming of age of her daughter Wilhelmina, and when that event took place, Queen Emma resigned the reins of government into the hands of her child, who was then only ten years old. Queen Emma had been a most devoted mother, and child, who was naturally cautious, had a happy hour which this mother and child spent together. Together will never any child, but rarely has the sympathy existed the more so since the child's head and heart were so quick to learn.

The delight in public Queen Wilhelmina has indeed been to all her teachers her delight. It collected an wonderful capacity for learning—at once. "Orange" quality—making studying nothing but a pleasure to her and amusing her, to feel interested in many things which at her age would not care about in [illegible]. She was present at a dinner the other day, having for her neighbor one of the ministers of the town where the dinner was held. This gentleman certainly had an occasion to feel duly here for one moment, and was quite confused and proud to hear the fifteen year old girl, at the other side eagerly discussing politics and the important waterworks in relation to neighborhood of the town. The conversation was very animated and—I have indeed had a most pleasant evening," the Magistrate afterwards said to a friend. "The young Queen and I had so much to talk about that I actually forgot to go to the dinner."

Holland is not clever as which breeds affection and it Holland is proud of its Queen because she is intelligent and talented, it warmly loves her for her eagerness to help the poor, for the zeal with which she sews and knits and paints useful and pretty presents for sick children, for the warm interest she shows with her truly womanly sympathy in all that concerns the subjects. Why but her mother could have taught her that?

Holland and Holland's army have her love and admiration; but she was little more than a child when in May, 1895, she visited Amsterdam, very happy herself, to her and her mother. On the evening of the last day a large number of young soldiers dressed in the uniform of the colonial reserve Indian uniform of the regiment gathered before the hotel and sang national hymns. Then Queen—the Queen of Holland—stood on a chair before the window, bidding to see and cheer. Her heart throbbed and her blue eyes filled with tears when she took off one of the foreign orders which adorned her soldier's breast for the love of battle. Yet she was Indian, for the love of fighting to their enthusiastic singing, and when they prepared to leave she urgently begged them to stay a little longer and sing some more songs. And they did stay, singing on and on the whole evening. At last—at last the Queen Regent had to give orders that they should indeed take their leave, because Queen Wilhelmina had to go to bed early next morning to take a journey.

Needless to say, the Queen Wilhelmina loves the country over which she will soon be a queen not only in name. She much likes to talk about the beautiful [illegible] she has seen in Switzerland and in Germany and Italy and in England. And which country of all these does she love best—Holland? Needless to say, Holland. Why, Holland, of course!—Boston Transcript.

On returning from her daily ride the other morning Mrs. McKinley saw the youngest and smartest drummer boy in the army standing on the White House portico. He bowed courteously and was, she felt sure, about to pass on, when Come inside with me." The little fellow is Garfield Fillyaw, the drummer boy of Company A, 33d Michigan regiment, now in Camp Alger. His father is dead and his mother and one little brother live in Detroit.

Mrs. McKinley ordered a lot of dainties for little Fillyaw to eat, and when he went away gave him a bag of candy to take to his comrades.

The President was a pretty one. The little fellow's face was bronzed and dirty but he was as courteous as a Chesterfield and immediately won the love of the kind hearted mistress of the White House.

The youngest soldier in the army also visited the White House. He is Henry McCorry, a son of Judge H. W. McCorry, of this city. He ran away from home and joined a Tennessee regiment, now at Camp Alger. He is only fifteen years old but has secured his father's consent to army service.—Washington Star.

THE WHEEL AND WHEELMEN.

Probably the biggest bicycle ever built was first exhibited to the public last month at the sport park Tiedeman, near Berlin, by the inventor, Lionel Sathe, of Hanover.

The rear wheel stands over nine feet high and two seats are provided, one on each side of the large wheel. The front wheel is of the ordinary bicycle pattern and by comparison the immense size of the larger wheel becomes evident. Riding on the large wheel is not as difficult as it might appear at a first glance however. The center of the gravity is placed below the axle of the large wheel and it is anyway matter to keep the wheel going steadily. The wheel was brought into public view for the first time in a rather interesting manner. The inventor had been requested to attend the cycle course arranged for a special occasion and promised to come with a startling feature. When he did come with it he started the machine and gave the public a musical surprise even his most intimate friends had no idea of the existence of the new conveyance, which he rode quietly on a large ring at the front of his building.

It will not, so possible, be the occupants of the wheel to approach too near each other for the ring where is constantly between them and how it ever shall be more reliable than any other apparatus for keeping the proper distance while riding.

The enthusiastic cyclist when he has had a fall or gets into a muddy up thinks first of seeing his wheel and dispatches to the front of the garage as much and possible, thinking what bodily injuries or complaints because of doing so, that is the box with a basket of eggs hidden in above his head while he falls on the left hand side. A rider who has a disagreement among invariably gets on his feet and examines his cycle before the looks at his torn clothing or the cuts on the body. The result of this was illustrated a few days ago when a rider jumped from his wheel and collided with a pigeon of both and, scrap iron, one of the corner of which easily penetrated a rather thin shoe at the side and inflicted an ugly cut on his foot. His immediate exclamation was: "Ouch! Golly, but I'm glad I wasn't going fast enough to run my life over that thing."

"It is rather a mean, small trick," I admit, but it is one I want to know how to make approaching riders keep over to their proper side and give plenty of room, you all you have to do is to play the wheelers' game, ride and continue. On the narrower roads and paths, where no travel moves in both directions, there are lots of delightful chances to do this. Simply keep over to the left, but they are not afraid of a collision, and when you get near enough you will hear things said in passing that will not be very complimentary. I learned this little wrinkle one day when I went to Brooklyn and rode around the outside of the park. It was very fine and every body was on the wheel, I should say, in the opposite direction from the way I was riding. They came along spread out all over the path. There were so many humps that only one in a hundred going the other way did not seem to be noticed. They came along, shaking my elbow continually, as I was in momentary fear of balm, throw it. For which I began to wabble, they could not see the swaying motion of the light and the scarcy they made to keep away was funny. Since then I have tried the dodge on the road when I have been out with my wife, who is timid, and I never was disappointed. It is not such a mean thing after all, for it applies only to those who are too far over to the left, which means largely searchers, and they deserve to be worried a bit.

A loss of 823 members in the L. A. W. since last week is shown by the latest figures, but there is a gain in the number of new members over the report of last week. The new applications are 802, and the total membership 82,289. New York has 22,088 and Pennsylvania 21,810.

If you want to learn the value of your new clothes take them off, said a shop worn out. I have been using them for several years but after lying a new wheel I was too lazy to put on my clips a couple of times I was cutting. I learned then more by reflection on the art of pedalling well and using the clips to the greatest advantage than I did by practicing with them. Of course you didn't have to take off your clips, but you can let them down and ride on the other side of the pedal. But don't do that when you have the clips. I never missed the opportunity of pulling up on the pedal and to push, to drank of over the top point of dead center, driving the toe forward in the clips. I do not know whether I did this regularly when I had my clips on but I have missed the feeling since. This is the matter of several points have come to me concerning what should be done, and I shall get them on again and do the thing as deliberately and carefully as I know should be done in pedalling. Perhaps it was because I did them before that the time came to me when I missed the clips, but I feel that it was the only and not studiously as it will be hereafter.

The transfer of Teddy Edwards, of the Century Wheelmen, from the amateur to the professional ranks by the racing board of the L. A. W. was discussed to a number of the riders' clubrooms. The general feeling is that the transfer is correct, although a few declare that the rider had not consciously violated any of the league's rules. It appears that Edward's transfer is due to his riding in public exhibition at Boston on Decoration day at the Charles River Park track. Allowing that Edwards towards did not wilfully violate any rule in this instance, the matter of deciding if the A. C. A. Sunday "Tom" necessitates an immediate if you ride a wheel for money in the line of any person. This question is sufficient in itself to bring Edward before the racing board for inventing plans. The club's sole speculation among the local club men how Edward's earning with the long bow will affect his standing in the Century Wheelmen in the latter is on L. A. W. organization.

Rescue of a Starving Man.

From him in the midst, helped to the suggestion: applies equally well to women.

why this sufferer was exemplar whose advice ads of other men and

This account of a man's escape from death is written to benefit people who have no appetites.

There are thousands living like this man, surrounded by plenty, because although they want to eat, they have no desire for food.

Instances of people who starve to death are not at all uncommon.

When the stomach loses the craving for food, and the power to digest it, the body is starved and death results either directly or indirectly, from the disease.

The recovery of George Marshall, Jr., will interest many. He told the story at his home, No. 19 Norwich Street, Cleveland, Ohio.

"Last spring," he said, "my whole system was affected with a disagreeable nervousness. I was seized with sudden, terrible sinking spells at the pit of my stomach. I was afraid to be alone, for I thought I would die. I had no appetite, and could not eat enough food to keep me alive. I was terribly afraid of consumption, as my father died of that disease. I was very much discouraged, and could not be induced to take any medicine. I was induced to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and got a box. Before I had taken them I felt a change for the better in my health. I began on the day when I first took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

"They were recommended to me by a neighbor, who knew of some marvelous cures they had effected.

"My strength gradually returned, as the pills gave me an appetite, and it came more nourishing food with a keen relish.

"In a short time I resumed my work, as a newspaper agent, on the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railroad."

Mr. Marshall added that he gave this experience with the hope that it would be of aid to some man or woman afflicted as he was.

"Now," he said, in conclusion, "I attribute my present good health entirely to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and I believe any intense sufferer can be benefited by them."

The action of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People upon the blood and nerves produces a happy result described in the case of Mr. Marshall. They produce a healthy, natural stimulation, creating nourishment, and the power to convert it into healthy nerve and flesh.

The pure, powerful vegetable ingredients in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People supply the antidote for poisonous matter in the blood, and these elements are added to build up body and brain.

The first dose begins the work. Sold by druggists. Or, sent by mail, post paid, at 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50. Write for booklet. Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

The Newport Observer has been put in excellent condition and the issue will be enlarged for the week ending on the 17th, under the management of N. E. French, who has for several seasons so successfully managed the Dexter Gazette.

As will be remembered on Thursday afternoon, the police received notice of a robbery in the residence of Edward G. McCoy on upper Oak street. Silver rings and a watch, cash and $35 money were taken. On Friday morning Thomas Lowe, an inmate of Children's Home, was arrested and charged with the crime. He made a confession. He was eight years old. He entered the house and took a few cents in money. Just such a boy having been heard, voices, so he stopped the money, the attic stairs and ran with the jewelry. Everything was recovered except a watch chain, which Howes says he gave away.

BILL OF INTERPLEADER

Heard Before Judge Niswell on Friday in the Supreme Court.

Case of C. A. Robinson vs. George A. Leavitt and E. J. McKie.

On Friday morning at 9.30 o'clock there was begun in the Supreme Court chamber a hearing before Judge Niswell, of Ellsworth, on an equity matter, being a bill of interpleader brought by C. A. Robinson, of Corinth, against George A. Leavitt and E. J. McKie, of Boston.

Messrs. Leavitt and McKie each lay claim to the same sum of money in the hands of Mr. Robinson, who is administrator, with the will annexed, of the estate of the late Thomas C. Leavitt, of Corinth. George A. Leavitt is a grandson of Thomas C. Leavitt and was entitled to a share of his estate, they estimated being $1,200, or more.

He made an assignment of the interest to Mr. McKie for $800, or being somewhat uncertain just what Mr. Leavitt's share of the estate would be. Afterwards, on a construction of the will by the court made the amount coming to Mr. Leavitt is somewhat increased sum. Mr. Leavitt then set up the claim that he had been overreached by Mr. McKie and that his share of the estate had not been fairly represented to him.

Mr. Leavitt has ordered Mr. Robinson, the administrator, not to pay anything to Mr. McKie and on him that all the sum should be paid to him.

Mr. Robinson therefore filed the bill of interpleader to have the court determine the rights of the matter.

The hearing took the greater part of the day. Judge Niswell has taken the case under consideration and will give a decision later.

C. A. Bailey, Esq., appeared for Mr. Robinson, the administrator; J. F. Gould, Esq., of Oldtown, Mr. Lahe and D. E. Gould, Esq., of Boston, for Mr. McKie Hon. L. B. Waldron, of Dexter, for Mr. Leavitt.

BASE BALL NOTES.

Sheckard, now with Brooklyn, led in the New England league last year with an average of .370.

Boston has not up to Intimate now in the club, depending on Capt. Duffy to come in and fill Collins' or Long's place in case of injury, weakening the outfield and forcing the captain to a very unpleasant duty, as he is a clever infielder, but a remarkable player in the outfield. Magoon, of Brooklyn, would be the man to secure if he can be had, as he is an artist of the first water.

Frank Leonard is having his troubles at Taunton, where he is, disposing of players for men from the Southern league.

The talk about the New England league not being able to pull through the season is nonsense. The New Bedford league will make a finish of it and it rests with Fall River and New Bedford whether the end finds four or six clubs in the circuit. There are men in Brockton, Pawtucket, Newport and Taunton who mean to see the schedule played out, and they think there should be interest enough in the game to help along the men who have fared poorly in their efforts against the heavy odds of the weather has given them.—New Bedford Standard.

The Cincinnati boys are all worked up over the Chamberlain. The strain will surely tell on them before the season is two-thirds over. Off and playing until about August 1 is the proper cue, with an eye, however, to keeping every member in the outfit in proper condition for a drive.

Hickman refuses to join Rochesters unless he receives $200 per month.

EXPLOSION OF DYNAMITE KILLS TWO MEN.

Jacksonville, Fla., June 10. An explosion of dynamite occurred at St. Johns bluff, near the mouth of the St. Johns river, this morning, killing two men, John J. O'Hourke and Edward Houston, and seriously injuring Lt. Hurt, U. S. A. O'Hourke was foreman of the Western Union Telegraph Co.'s force, and Houston was in the employ of the government. The two men were, it is said, pulling in the cable, dividing some electrical appliance, and by exploding the mines in this manner, the wires became crossed and the dynamite was exploded. Houston's body was blown into the air, nothing of it except scatter d fragments could be found.

Lt. Hurt, U. S. A., was not so badly injured. Lieut. Hurt was standing about 1,500 yards distant at the time and was violently thrown to the ground. He is much bruised and received internal injuries, but his being was entirely dependent.

A BOLD HOLD-UP.

Dallas, Texas, June 10. A special to the Post-Dispatch from Dallas, Texas, says:

Reports received by the Santa Fe officials in Dallas today state that four masked robbers attempted to hold up an express train on the Kampasas division at Rye, a small station between the train robbers and the sheriff, in which one of the latter was shot and killed. Deputy Johnson was killed. The Santa Fe officials declare that the robbers secured no money.

The express company said that it had secured for return to Dallas a little less than $1,000, which is all that was in the safe. It does not look as if the robbers got a heap of industriously inclined.

WARS HILL MURDER CASE.

Lewiston, Me., June 10. A special to the Journal from Mars Hill states that the coroner's jury in the Mars Hill Murphy murder case will reserve its decision until the trial at Caribou. Both sons and the wife of the dead man are under arrest. The testimony of the doctor was that the man died to death.

NEWSPAPERS CONGRATULATING.

London, June 10. The newspapers here are printing many congratulations upon the signing of the Anglo-Chinese convention yesterday which gives Great Britain an extension of the boundaries of Hong Kong, including Kau Lung, of altogether two hundred square miles, under a lease, to which the greatest importance is attached as the strategic point required is regarded as being essential for the protection of Hong Kong. The lease comprises the island of Lantao to the westward of Hong Kong, and the mainland behind Kau Kung, south of a line drawn from Mirs Bay to Deep Bay. While the Chinese retain the northern shores of these bays, the lease covers their waters subject to the right of the Chinese to use them for their own ships. When questioned in the House of Commons yesterday evening as to whether Russia contemplated sending troops to the Yang Tse Kiang valley, the parliamentary secretary for the foreign office, Mr. Curzon, made an important statement that such a proceeding without the consent of China would be an act of war and he added, the government would take the requisite steps to protect British interests. Obviously this is intended as a warning to Russia not to interfere in the Yang Tse Kiang valley.

SIXTEEN WARSHIPS

Washington, June 10. Another formidable American fleet has assembled consisting of 16 warships of various classes headed by the big battleship Indiana, which, for all round effectiveness stands at the head of the navy. This fleet is assembled at Fort Tampa, and is to serve as a convoy for the troop transports from that point. The formation of this formidable convoy fleet is due to the reports, more or less credible that Spanish ships were lurking between Florida and Cuba, with a view of intercepting the troop transports. The navy department has not given serious credit to these reports, yet they were more or less circumstantial. In order to avoid the slightest possibility of a rash by some Spanish ship against the transport this new fleet of 16 warships was determined upon. Whether it was ordered from Washington or was due to the preliminary measures of the officials in command in the south is not disclosed. It is apparently that Commodore Remey commander of the naval base at Key West, has brought together this powerful fleet of convoys. It is strong though in number of ships, size of individual ships and armament to cope with any Spanish vessels that might be at large in the West Indies and is entirely eliminates any possible danger that might attend the transportation of the army of invasion of Cuba. Capt. Taylor, who commands the Indiana, is available as commander of this squadron although it is not disclosed definitely who will be its chief.

Commodore Watson is with the blockading fleet off Havana and cannot be spared from that position which will be maintained efficiently notwithstanding the drafts made to create this large convoy squadron. Capt. Taylor is regarded as one of the most judicious and capable officers in the service and should the squadron command fall to him it is the fact that it will be in able hands. The Indiana probably will be the flagship of the convoy squadron. There will be other battleships, but it is not deemed advisable to give the full list of the ships in detail. The Indiana is considered one of the most formidable ships afloat, being regarded by naval experts as superior as a fighting machine to the ships of the Terrible class in the British navy.

The desirability of forming this fleet was suggested by the information contributed official channels, that Spanish ships left Barcelona some days ago for Cuba. This information came from the State department. It was to the effect that the ships include three Spanish warships and one transport. This information was regarded as trustworthy. It was communicated to the navy department and led to careful consideration. A little later came the reports from the ships off Florida that suspicious looking vessels had been seen in the offing. These last reports were regarded lightly and some officials spoke of the matter as another case of the phantom ship "Flying Dutchman." But the better advised ones, knowing the shifting qualities of the Spanish ships from Barcelona looked upon the matter in one or one which should not be dismissed too lightly. A single troop transport carrying 1,500 men might lie at the mercy of some stray Spanish ship, and, there was no purpose to hazard the lives of 1,500 men on any of our ships, when reports came from two widely separated sources, one of them quite in detail, of the approach of Spanish ships.

While it is inexpedient to give the exact make up of the convoy fleet, yet some general idea may be given of the warships which might be drawn upon for this service. There are a number of ships which have been doing recent duty and others held in reserve while Commodore Watson's large blockading fleet in front of Havana gives another source from which the convoy fleet may be made up. The fine auxiliary ships, like the Yankee and the Harvard with the torpedo boats could be used for escort duty, their swiftness permitting them to go far ahead as pickets for the approaching fleet. The smaller cruisers, gunboats and torpedo boats are also available.

Some of the ships which could be used with the Indiana are the Helena, Bancroft, Marietta, Newport, Wilmington, Castine, Cincinnati, Detroit, Montgomery, Annapolis, Vicksburg, Ericsson, Dupont, Gushing and Foote. As stated there is no desire to give this as the exact list of the convoy squadron, but it merely indicates with what fidelity the naval authorities can meet present conditions, without in any way weakening Admiral Sampson's command or Commodore Watson's command of Havana. Admiral Sampson will have four or five ships, including the formidable battleships Iowa, Texas, Massachusetts and Oregon and the armored cruisers New York and Brooklyn. The blockading squadron will contain to have 12 or more ships, including the four big monitors Puritan, Terror, Amphitrite and Miantonomoh. Besides the fleet of 16 convoy vessels, there will be from 30 to 50 transports ships.

The war department today gave out an official list of the transport ships thus far hired in order to clear up erroneous reports.

The list shows fifty ships chartered along the Atlantic coast and ten on the Pacific. Those along the Atlantic will be used in part for unloading troops from Florida and from on the Pacific for troops going to Manila.
